New data protection requirements

We have made a few changes to our communications and our website to take account of the new requirements, effective from 25 May, concerning data protection.

- We have changed member settings on the website 'Address Book' so that the data in it can only be viewed (at least for the time being) by a restricted group of church leaders and officers, and
- We will continue to issue a weekly email (usually Friday) about St Paul's services and activities. We have excluded from the weekly e-mail information about local and other events that are not directly or very closely related to the church – this information is now on the website and can be readily accessed by clicking a link in the e-mail.

We have made these changes because we think that in future we should only use your e-mail address and other personal data for the purposes indicated above if you have clearly given your consent for us to do so. If you wish to give your consent now, please do so by ticking the relevant box(es) immediately below:

I give my consent to the following contact information being made available to logged-in users through the website Address Book

☐ all my contact details

☐ my name, e-mail and 'phone only

☐ my name and e-mail only

☐ I give my consent to being sent information about events and activities that are not directly or very closely related to St Paul's Church but which the Church thinks might be of interest to me

In future we will only send you personally-addressed invitations to make financial contributions to the Church if you are on the electoral roll or have given your specific consent. Please tick the following box to give consent if you are not on the electoral roll:

☐ I am not on the electoral roll but give my consent to being invited (by e-mail or otherwise) to make financial contributions

The Church has also revised its Privacy Policy. A statement of this policy is available on our website, and a printed copy is posted on the notice boards.

If you have any queries on any of the above, we suggest that in the first instance you contact the Church Reception.

If you do not want to receive further weekly e-mails or similar communications from us, please tick here ☐.
